LETTER FROM DOYLESTOWN

Interesting Events at the County Seat Reviewed by Our Correspondent.

Doylestown, April 10. Politics seem to be a dead issue at the county seat although the primaries are so close at hand. The nomination of Oscar O. Bean, for Congress, seems to be a sure thing much to the satisfaction of the Grundyites. Mr. Bean has had lots of assistance in his campaign and not the least important has been that of every Federal office holder in the district, for President Taft fully expects to carry Pennsylvania and an intimation to his campaign manager that his appointments should get busy for Bean thereby materially aiding the candidates in his interest for National Delegate, met with a ready response and the "boys" turned in for Grundy, Johnson and the whole machine ticket and as these Federal office holders are to be found in every community they, of course, were able to make their work count.

The rejuvenation of the court room is about completed. The scaffolding has all been taken down and the room now presents a very handsome appearance. This week the decorators are at work on the different offices and in a short time the sadly needed repairs will have been completed. A practically new floor has been laid in a part of the Prothonotary's office in a "penny wise pound foolish" way, quarterinch boards have been laid over the old floor and while it looks nice it already shows that it will not wear well and it will only be a short time until the County Commissioners will have to tear it up and put down an entirely new floor, just what should have been done at the present time, not only in that particular office but in all of the down stairs offices.

Much to the dissatisfaction of the Board of County Commissioners condemnation of Turnpikes seem to be very much the fashion. The latest on the list is the Hilltown Turnpike. The stockholders modestly claimed the sum of $31,000.00 figuring that the pike was worth $400.00 a mile and asking $11,000 for their franchise and they had experts to prove their claim. Warren S. Cressman, of Sellersville, whose long connection with the Good Roads Bureau at Harrisburg, qualified him to speak with authority and Charles T. Eastburn, road builder and civil engineer, backed up the company's claim while the county depended on H. C. Stiles, of Ogontz, who has knowledge of what it cost to build roads in Cheltenham township in our sister county, Montgomery, and S. Henry Johnson, of Riegelsville, this county, who knows something of Jersey roads and their cost. The county experts place the value of the five mile piece of pike at from $1000 to $1500 a mile and the road jury after mature deliberation awarded the Turnpike Company $5,900 but "Not on your life!" replied "I want it now." Those who the demand laughed and it was interesting when the wheel chaser put up the money. "Y make me back water," exclaimed the haberdasher, and back of the screen. A minute ward he reappeared with the one hand and holding his son up with the other. The man the dollar gave it to the shir who immediately turned it over to the purchaser. Then it was another surprise and the laugh another direction. The sh found to be badly worn out the neck and at the cuffs and spectators laughed at the p the shirtless man explained roars of laughter that his w tured him for putting it that he wore it because he he's get the laundry out of it

Indian Summer.

It is related in history that that stalwart band of pilgrims settled in New England they had to do with the climatic conditions of the new world. October came and the first flurry of snow. They nipped the woods, and the chief air foretold the coming of "We will now have winter," and they related that one of the Indians marked, and no doubt the Bradford, Radclott and Winth did their hands in approval. History tells us that the Indians pointed to the skies and west and told the fathers that would come again before the They were right. In the last October it grew warm again. It was filled with slanting sunlight, world seemed wrapped in an atmosphere of almost warmth. The ### Killing the English Sparrow.

It is becoming more and more apparent that the English sparrow is one of the worst nuisances of the country. It not only devours food that should go to poultry and other birds, but is the greatest offender in carrying San Jose scale, and it drives off other birds, destroy their eggs and kills their young. Prof. H. A. Surface, State Zoologist of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg, says that he has seen the English sparrow in the act of committing such depredations. He relates having seen the English sparrow dropping very young and helpless fly hatchers from the nest.

English sparrows are now nesting around the premises, and it is desirable to let them nest in places that are readily accessible, and wait until their eggs are about ready to hatch, and then destroy the nests by gathering them and burning them. Merely to throw them down leaves a lot of good nesting material that will make it easy for the sparrows to gather in reconstructing the nests in places more difficult to reach. Where upper

PRIMARY ELECTION TOMORROW.

Throughout the State of Pennsylvania tomorrow, between the hours of two and eight p. m., will be held a uniform primary election.

In Bucks county the principal interest is centered in the contest in the Republican party for the nomination of a candidate for Congress and the election of two delegates and two alternate delegates to the Republican National convention and five delegates to the Republican State convention. The delegates elected tomorrow to the State convention will in turn vote for twelve delegates-at-large to the Republican National convention. The candidates for National and State delegates are sharply divided upon the Taft-Roosevelt issue.

A full set of Roosevelt delegates are in the field as opposed to the Taft candidates.

The issue is squarely drawn and it is up to the voters of the county to make their selections.

The alignment of the delegate candidates are as follows:

FOR ROOSEVELT.
National Delegates.
Byram C. Foster.
C. Tyson Kratz.
Alternate Delegates.
Ralph Geider.
Adolph Printz.
State Delegates.
H. Warner Hallowell.
Lundum L. Whit.
C. K. Frankfield.
John A. Nixon.
Roy Tracy.

FOR TAFT.
National Delegates.
Joseph R. Grundy.
Charles Johnson.
Alternate Delegates.
Elmer E. Allhouse.
Frank P. Croft.
State Delegates.
Clifford L. Anderson.
Lewis R. Bond.
Franklin Briggs.
M. S. Cogan.
Howard W. Willett.

Every Republican voter in Bucks county who voted the Keystone ticket at the local election last fall, if he does not desire to go to the polls tomorrow afternoon or evening and ask for a Republican ballot. There is no law on the statute books that operates against his asking for and receiving the ballot of his choice, notwithstanding the extensively circulated bluff of the Grundy organizations. This organization, half-panic stricken, in its fear of results, is endeavoring to scare independent Republicans from the polls. Don't stand for the bluff. Go and vote. One or two independent leaders may be challenged, but that is all.

APPLY THIS LOCALLY.

A postoffice official of many years experience, who has been assigned to a Western state for official duties during the last few years, relates an interesting feature of his work to show the difference between the old political methods and the new.

Within the last ten years the state representatives have been growing more progressive. Finally it elected one progressive United States senator, and the senator succeeded in time in obtaining appointments for a few postmasters.

"When I got into one of the post-offices in that state," he said in conversation with a friend recently, "I can tell in five minutes' conversation with the postmaster whether he is a supporter of a progressive. The old school postmasters believe that they hold their office by the force of political influence. The new school of postmasters discuss methods of efficiency and are anxious to hold their offices by the standard of the services."

"The old men usually whisper in my ear that their influence with the senator or representative is such that they might be able to help me if I should want anything in the way of political assistance, and intimate that a report highly favorable to them as to the conduct of the office would so please the senator or the representative appointing them that it would be a feather in my cap to make such a report."

"On the other hand, the new school of postmasters are ready to hear suggestions as to weaknesses in their office policies. They keep their offices in up-to-date style, and it seems never to occur to them that they have any claim upon their jobs by reason of friendship for their United States senators or congressmen."

That is a most encouraging indication of what the progressive movement means to the public service, and from what it involves in the matter of efficiency for the people.

Taft, as a Presidential possibility, is practically eliminated, and we believe that Theodore Roosevelt is the only available candidate who can save the Republican party from defeat.

THINK THIS OVER.

The Hattboro Public Spirit, an independent Republican newspaper, interested in the public welfare of the Eighth Congressional district, admonishes its readers as follows:

The Primary Election, a most important occasion for all voters, will be held April 16.

Are you ready for it?

Have you given thought to the stand you will take on that day?

Have you said to yourself, will I vote as I believe best for my man?

Have you said to yourself, will I vote as I believe best for my country and my party? Or do I belong to that class of puppets, who vote as directed by the big and little political bosses?

There are questions of moment for every voter. Think them over.

In the three States where Presidential preference primaries have been held, President Taft has been utterly repudiated. The overwhelming vote against Taft in Illinois this week practically ends his campaign for re-nomination. In North Dakota Taft received 1816 votes out of a total of 57,000. In Wisconsin the Republican votes repudiated Taft's claim by 10,000 majority. The Illinois Republicans repudiated his claim for re-nomination by over 300,000.

Theodore Roosevelt, a private citizen, received a tremendous ovation in Philadelphia on Wednesday evening. It was a demonstration of the people's approval of the President's policy of efficiency.

Severely any person in town is now connected with public affairs in the office of the town clerk. The best thing on the programme was a skit entitled "A Busy Day in Bristol," showing council in session and scenes enacted at the "New Post-office."

Concerning Dr. Wiley's Resignation.

Scientific American.

That Dr. Wiley performed a very useful vital matter of pure food products and that he has filled a difficult office honestly and energetically, even his numerous enemies must admit.

His resignation should enable the President to clean thoroughly one of the worst Augean stables ever included in a governmental department.

There has been so much backbiting, so much working at cross purposes, so much personal rancor, and above all, so little real disinterestedness, in the work of Dr. Wiley's subordinates, that no scientific man takes the Bureau of Chemistry seriously. We hold no brief for benzene or soda or borax acid, but we firmly believe that had it not been for the Remsen Board, we should have had but very little accurate knowledge of the effect of certain preservatives on food.

Now that Dr. Wiley has resigned, we hope that the curious and expensive anomaly of a Bureau of Chemistry entrusted with the care of 90,000,000 stomachs, and of a Board of Referees to check up its work will be abolished. There would be no need of a Remsen Board if the pseudo-scientists in the Bureau of Chemistry were reformed.

Dr. Wiley's Food and Drug Act is the finest piece of legislation that this country has seen in many a day; but it has been all but vitiated, not only by wealthy dishonest food manufacturers, but by unscientific and incompetent government officials. What the Bureau of Chemistry needs is a man whose personality will be as strong as that of Dr. Wiley's, who will be as honest and fearless as he, but, above all, a man of such scientific attainments that there will be no need of referring his decisions to a Board of Referees. Not one of the post upon whom Dr. Wiley leaned for assistance during the later years of his exciting administration is capable of filling the office of Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry satisfactorily. Unless a scientific man is appointed, the Bureau of Chemistry will continue its old policy of accusing first and later getting evidence to substantiate its accusations.

SHOOTING
The incident was the outcome of a wager between Faulkner and the manager of Manchester gas works, who doubted John's statement regarding the excessive heat. A large quantity of the necessary ingredients, six and a half pounds in weight, was hoisted to the summit of the huge chimney stack. Faulkner placed the receptacle on the outer and coolest side of the brickwork, but despite this the contents were found to be thoroughly cooked in one hour and twenty minutes, or ten minutes less than the stipulated time. Faulkner won his wager, and the pile, which, it was said, was slightly burned at the bottom, was afterward distributed among the poor of the district.—London Answers.

Our Denatured Food.
Were you a gastronomic nation you should insist on having French or German bread, with crisp, tasty crust, refusing the soggy loaves made of bleached, bolted flour robbed of nutritious phosphates and sources of flavor, refusing also the machine polished rice deprived of its nutritious outer parts, in which lies the delicate flavor of this cereal, leaving it pretty to look at, but as one of the government agricultural experts, David Fairchild, has forcibly expressed it, "as tasteless as the paste that a paper hanger brushes on his rolls of wall paper." We should exclude the chemically created teas dumped into our grocery because not wanted in any other country. We should protest against the peaches and other fruits, formerly brought into our markets, soft, sun ripened, luscious, but now offered to us hard, unripe, flavorless.—Century.

Tea Drinking in Siam.
Tea is to be found in every tent and dwelling in Siam. There is always a kettle on the fire filled with tea and prepared for drinking, which is done by adding milk, butter and salt. This is their way of fixing this beverage and is said to be pleasant after one becomes accustomed to it. A peculiar mode of hospitality is shown by these people in reference to their tea. It is always at the disposal of every stranger and traveler. He need not ask for it. Neither is he expected that he should, but he must have his own cup. This is imperative, and accordingly every one carries a cup with him at all times. Some of these utensils are marvelous of workmanship and are highly valued. They are generally made of some fine grained wood and oftentimes are lined with silver and gold.

Temperature of Volcanoes.
Scientists have secured an accurate measurement of the temperature of boiling lava in the crater of Mount Fuji. The experiment was a very dangerous one, and it was considered a triumph of precaution no lives were sacrificed in making the test. The crater of Kiluaea, in Hawaii, was selected for examination. The work progressed very slowly. For a long time it was impossible to obtain results, but after several thermometers had been destroyed a pyrometer was substituted to advantage. The temperature recorded was 1,010 degrees C., which is the same as 1,850 degrees F. Iron is still unmelting at this heat, but gold, silver and copper become a molten mass at a lower temperature.—Harper's Weekly.

A Psalmist.
The "duffer" at golf becomes so used to finding himself in all kinds of out of the way places that he hits every ball in the conditions of expectation of getting into difficulties with it. Such a player was he who speaks thus in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch: "Is this your ball over here?" "Is it in a hole?" "Yes." "A deep hole?" "Yes." "With slightly overhanging banks, so you can't possibly get at it?" "Then it's my ball, all right."

Drinking Horns.
Drinking horns were beloved of the early Saxons, who always took their meals in this manner. Many of the old drinking horns were fashioned from the horns of the rhinoceros under the belief that "it atrears at the approach of poison." Hence, according to this superstition, the drinker would be in a position to tell at once whether or not he had been drinking with his beverage.—London Globe.

Getting It Straight.
"What did you say to your wife that night when you got home at 11:30?" "Nothing." "Do you mean to say?" "I mean to say that by the time I could get a word in it was no longer last night, but this morning!"—Boston Transcript.

An Inherited Weakness.
"Your daughter is improving," said a "music teacher," "but when she gets to the scales I have to watch her prettily closely." "Just like her father," said the mother. "He made his money in the grocery business."

Served Them Right.
He-They have dropped their anchor. She-They on her first trip. Serves them right. It has been hanging over the side all day long.

'Tis not your posterity, but your actions, that will perpetuate your memory.—Hutchinson

Vegetables and Character.
A Paris contemporary reads that a well known doctor read a paper before a meeting of medical men on the influence of vegetables upon the character, the brain and the senses. According to the doctor, the potato develops an evenness of temper and calmness of thought. The carrot acts as a stimulant to the character and is recommended for bluntness and to peevish or jealous persons. Spinach develops ambitious dreams and egotism. Sorrel, despite its acidity, induces sadness and provokes nightmare. All workers should eat white harlots.—London Globe.

A Thrifty Spouse.
A man whose illness threatened to develop into typhoid was taken to the hospital. Instead of growing worse he improved, and at the end of the fourth day, when his wife visited him, he asked to be taken home. "But you have paid for a week," replied his thrifty spouse. "They won't refund the money. You had better stay your week out."—New York Herald.

Proving His Own Medicine.
"That man Biffers was neatly punished the other day." "How was that?" "Why, when he gets mad he always kicks something, and when he got mad the other day he kicked the revolving door and nearly knocked his head off."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Hard Lines.
"In financial trouble? What is it?" "Oh, I promised to pay Brown $10 today, and I've got it, and he knows I've got it, and he knows I know he knows I've got it!"—Puck.

Constipation, if Neglected, Causes Serious Illness
Constipation, if neglected, leads to almost innumerable complications affecting the general health. Many cases of typhoid fever, appendicitis and other severe diseases are traceable to prolonged clogging of the bowels. Regarding the effects of constipation, Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets, C. E. Ayers & Sons, Montpelier, Vt., says: "I was afflicted with constipation and biliousness for years, and at times became so bad I would become unconscious. I have been found in that condition many times. Physicians did not seem to be able to do me any good. I would become weak and for days at a time could do no work. Not long ago I got a box of Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets, and after using them found I had never tried anything that acted in such a mild and effective manner. I believe I have at last found the remedy that suits my case."
Thousands of people are sufferers from habitual constipation and while possibly realizing something of the danger of this condition, yet neglect too long to employ proper curative measures until serious illness often results. The advice of all physicians is, "keep your bowels clean," and it's good advice.
Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are sold by all druggists, at 25 cents a box containing 25 lozenges. If not found satisfactory, your money is returned.

YOU cannot child them as they tell. Or say it is a crime. But hens are laying storage eggs. For us in winter time. Now that to purchase one or two would not disrupt a bank. The storage man is going round. And filling up his tank.
You cannot blame it on the hen. For she is not aware. Her child in storage will be chucked. And left a season here. Her business only is to lay. The hen does not engage. To go to market with the egg. And guarantee its age.
But man has learned a trick or two. When lowly is the price. He takes the product of the nest. And stores it up in ice. And in the hen's vacation time. He slips them to the trade. Which innocently sets them out. And labels them "Fresh laid."
When in the stored summer time. They and the laying good. The storage men are on the job. And busy sawing wood. And if they cannot make us buy. On any other pretext. Next winter they will put them by. And try year after next.

Something in That.
"He intends to run away from home and kill Indians."
"Fshaw! The Indians don't need killing."
"No, but he needs the exercise."
A Case in Point.
"I always like my own way."
"You always did have queer taste."
PERT PARAGRAPHS.
Getting rested after vacation is one of the sad paradoxes of life.
But the trouble is that we can't always forget the things we have reason to forget.
Some people don't like to wait, but they aren't those who are due to have their heads cut off.
There are lots of girls who are more concerned in aiding nature on exterior decorations than they are in putting up the structure.
While it is probably true that things might be worse, we are more concerned in the other side of the question.
There are persons that when they owe you money owe you a grudge because of it, and when they pay the money they continue to owe the grudge.
Opportunity often comes and sits with a lazy uncle, knowing it is perfectly safe from capture.
Undoubtedly it is hard to work, but in the long run it is hard not to work too.
It is easy enough to see that a wrong thing is wrong, but often we don't like to look into it too closely lest we see the reason.
There is no sin in the soul's economy. Every power has its work to do, every capacity its gift to fill it.—Phillips Brooks.
She Comes Back.
Church—And you claim that cats are smarter than dogs?
Gorham—I certainly do.
"Why?"
"Well, if you try to lose a dog he'll scent your footsteps and follow you home."
"Agreed."
"Well, you just try to lose a cat and the cat will beat you to your home."
—Yonkers Statesman.
Wanted Something Elaborate.
Mr. Cough—Could you please look in 'yo' dictionary a minute, kuhnet? Just want to find a couple of words to add to mail lodge office title what Ab was elected to last night. Tommy's Uncle—Hello, Tommy! I hear you've been sick. Was it very bad? Tommy—Awful! I wasn't sick enough to stay home from school.—Philadelphia Record.
Titles of honor add not to his worth who is an honor to his title.—Ford.

Peacocks' Feathers
Peacocks' feathers have been blown down to us from the ancient mythology as emblematic of vanity, evil and misfortune. The story of this strange superstition is found upon the following classic: Oedipus, king of Egypt, upon seeing his Indian expedition left by his father, regent, with Argus, his brother as her chief adviser. Argus, with his hundred eyes, or, rather, his hundred heads, made himself so formidable that he seized the queen's hand and shut her up in a strong castle. He claimed himself king of Egypt, and a strong army, took him captive and off his head, whereupon Juno morphed him into a peacock and his eyes in his tail. From this and the various additions made to it from time to time the belief has arisen that it is unlucky to have peacock feathers inside a house.

Fire Insurance Folks.
A young Englishwoman introduced a new phrase to a New Yorker the other day. She had been telling of the house town, of its extraordinary timoniousness, until her hearer asked, "Why, what sort of folks live there?" "Oh," she said, "they're all fire insurance folks."
It didn't seem that any one community could be made up of people of one line of business, and the hearer asked for an explanation.
"Why," came the answer, "the insurance folks are returned colonists who lived abroad and have committed every crime in the calendar. They when they get old they come and try to square up by living six years of the most painful piety. That's why we call 'em fire insurance folks."—New York Sun.

The Seychelles Islands.
The Seychelles Islands form an archipelago of 114 islands and are situated about 1,400 miles east of Aden and 1,000 miles from Zanzibar. They rise steeply out of the sea, culminating in the island of Mahé, which is about 300 feet above the level of the ocean and is nearly the center of the group. The islands are of coral growth. The houses are built of a species of massive coral woven into square blocks which glisten like white marble.

AFTER GRIP
Look Out for Trouble
The after-effects of the Grip are apt to be serious, but a normal healthy condition may be restored in a surprisingly short time by Vinol.
Watertown, Wis.—"After a severe attack of the Grip my system was in a very weakened, nervous and run-down condition. I began taking Vinol with the very best results, and in a short time I began to feel like an entirely different person, and I am better and stronger than I have been for years." Adelaide Gamm. (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)
We have never sold in our store such a valuable strength creator and health restorer for the convalescent, the weak and run-down, as Vinol, and we ask people in this vicinity to try a bottle of Vinol, with the understanding that their money will be returned if it does not do all we claim for it.
